LONDON HAS FALLEN!

Reports are flooding in: London, the vibrant capital of England, is under the control of a mysterious organization. Leading economists warn of a total collapse as the city faces a devastating shortage of tea, fish & chips, baked beans, sausages and bacon. The British way of life is under siege. We are calling upon a select group of courageous individuals—the Jins—to infiltrate the city and free London.

MISSION LOGISTICS

MANDATORY DEPLOYMENT

SPECIAL EDITION

WHEN & WHERE

The mandatory deployment window is officially scheduled from Friday, 17th April through Sunday, 19th April, and all operatives are required to report to the rally point at Scouts 4811 Nieuwlokaal. Due to extreme security protocols, the final destination of our mission remains strictly classified for secrecy reasons and will only be shared if you contact Cmdr. Henry or Robin. Below you can find details to buy a trainticket

WHAT TIME

18H

Our underground contacts have secured a limited number of train tickets. You must arrive at the rally point with a full belly (eat before you come!), as rations on the journey will be non-existent. The train departs at 19:15 precisely. Do not be late; the resistance waits for no one. If you are late, contact us.

While London burns, the rest of the world watches in a state of fractured hysteria. In the Americas, political tensions have reached a boiling point as the "New Republic" threatens to secede over the Great Digital Embargo. Meanwhile, the long-awaited "Epstein Files: Volume 12" were leaked early this morning, implicating three more former Prime Ministers and a very confused looking holographic AI. We need operatives who aren't afraid of a little "trouble and strife."

SPECIAL ATTIRE

To infiltrate the city, you must blend in with the locals. You must look typically British. Critics argue that the "Shortage of Staples"—specifically the lack of crispy bacon—is the real reason the British public has finally lost its collective mind. If we cannot secure a Full English Breakfast by the weekend, there may be no England left to save. In the East End, riots broke out Tuesday over a single dented tin of Heinz Beaten Beans. Intelligence suggests that the "Great Milk Embargo" was the final straw; without a splash of semi-skimmed, the national tea reserves have become nothing more than lukewarm.

WHAT TO BRING

To survive the ruins of London and move undetected through the countryside, every agent must carry the following:

- Functional bicycle with tires fully inflated.
- Hiking backpack: All gear must fit inside so you can cycle with it.
- The Perfect Uniform: Official shirt, scarf, and trousers/skirt.
- Sufficient clothing for a 48-hour operation in unpredictable weather.
- Sleeping gear: Sleeping mat, pillow, sleeping bag.
- Hygiene kit: Toothbrush, soap, etc.
- Medication: If required by your mission profile.
